

Executive Vice President - Christian Holland

Christian Holland

Executive Vice President

Christian Holland serves as Executive Vice President of the Philadelphia Youth Network (PYN). In his role, Holland plays a pivotal role in shaping the organization's future by spearheading strategic design, scaling service delivery models, and aligning cross-sector partnerships to ensure youth across Greater Philadelphia have access to high-quality, career-connected learning experiences.

Holland brings more than two decades of experience where he has driven impact in complex ecosystems, led organizational growth strategies, developed scalable programs, and advised national collaboratives committed to equity, education, and economic mobility. His reach extends globally through his appointment as a Commissioner for the Council on Accreditation (COA), where he supports the accreditation of youth-serving institutions across the U.S., Canada, and U.S. military installations around the world. His work has helped shape international standards for quality, outcomes, and accountability in services that impact millions of young people.

Holland holds a B.A. in Psychology with a focus on Organizational and Cultural Psychology from Wesleyan University; an MBA from Benedictine University; and a Master of Divinity from Claremont School of Theology, concentrating in education, counseling, and administration.